SHOW TRAIN IN COLLISION

Carnival Company's Cars Were on Rear End and Not One Performer Was Seriously Hurt.

Columbus, Ga., Nov. 23-Six persons are known to have been killed, 12 others are missing, and more than 30 are injured as a result of a headon collision six miles west of this city last night between Central of Georgia passenger train No. 2 and a special train of 28 cars, carrying the Con T. Kennedy Carnival company. The bodies of some of the missing are thought to be under overturned cars of the show train. Twelve of the caraival company's cars were report ed destroyed by fire and others still were burning last night. Two cars containing trained animals were said to have been destroyed, killing many of the animals. The collision occur red on a straight stretch of track, the passenger train being on the way from Birmingham to Macon, and the show special from Atlanta to Phoenix City, Ala. A misunderstanding of orders is said to have been responsible The known dead and injured, except for trainmen, were persons traveling with the carnival company,

Engines of both trains were demolished by the impact. The passenger train carried three steel coaches, all of which escaped serious damage, The cars of the carnival train, however, piled up on the engines and immediately caught fire. The chief performers of the carnival company rode in 12 ceaches which made up the rear end of their train, and none of them suffered more than bruises.

Mr. and Mrs. Kempf and their young daughter, Hazel, were in one of he cars near the front of the train. Vhen the car caught fire the woman tossed her daughter out of a window, he child escaping with cuts and ornises. Mrs. Kempf and her husand were burned to death in the

There were 60 people attached to he carnival company, which has been exhibiting in Atlanta during the past

CAUGHT HENS WITH FISH HOOK

Pittsfield Man Arrested for Stealing Chickens with Hook and Line

Catching chickens with a fish book saited with corn is the latest method of noultry thieving that the Pittsfield police have encountered. Louis Boyd. en was arrested in that city last night charged with larceny and the police say he admits he stole some chickens in the Morningside district. Residents of that district have been missing chickens of late, particularly on Saturday and Sunday nights. So a watch was kept Saturday night, and the police have two witnesses who sny they saw Boyden operating the fishhook game. Boyden has quite a reputation as a pascatorial fisherman. but his ability to fish for birds is news to his friends. He is claimed to have scattered grain from the neighbors' coops to his house and among them to have placed a small took, carrying a kernel of corn. When the chickens swallow the hook, line and sinker, it is alleged that his meth ed was to haul it into the house through the window. The police coniscated two dressed chickens when Boyden was arrested. He was released on $50 bail.

HATCHERY AT VERNON

Rearing Station

John W. Titcomb of Lyndonville, state fish and game commissioner, completed negotiations last week for a trout-rearing station in Vernon by securing options on Cold brook in that town sufficient to enable the state to place 30 or 40 tanks, large enough to raise something like 100. 000 trout from the fry to the fingerling stage. The fishing license fees which were put on this year contemplated the raising of money which could be used by the state fish and game commissioner in establishing rearing stations in nearly every county in the state in order that which is attributed by officials to allen | trout which had been hatched at the main plant at Roxbury could be rearthe fingerling stage.

Commissioner Titcomb while in Brattleboro also stated that he would county which could eventually be de veloped into a branch hatchery, but in the plant, but so far as known that he did not feel that the Cold brook location in Vernon met the requirements of the hatching station, al though it was the most suitable place that he had been able to locate for a rearing sation. It has been generally known that several places in the county have been looked over during he past summer with an idea of find ing the most feasible place for the rearing sation, some of the places be ing up the West river valley near the West River railroad. The sportsmen ed in the developments of the Vernon proposition, and hope that a hatching station will eventually be located in would furnish much more fingerlings to be put into the trout brooks of Windham county.
